European Network for Improving Research and Development in Educational Leadership and Management
18th annual ENIRDELM conference

Leading Educational Institutions in Times of Turbulence and Complexity. Implications for New Professionalism.

17 – 20 September 2009

At University of Antwerp (Belgium)

Mission

Bringing researchers, school leaders and policy makers together. Key note speeches, paper presentations and workshops will be alternated by “field visits” and a cultural programme that will allow the participants to experience the multicultural and hospitable character of the city.

Schoolmanagement in Antwerp

With 110.000 pupils and students, 162 registered nationalities and a lot of schools experimenting with educational innovations, Antwerp offers a unique opportunity to broaden your vision on school management and leadership.

WE WANT YOU... to participate!

If you are interested in presenting your research/experiences regarding this year's topic and relevant issues such as

- culture
- professionalism
- new public management
- evidence based school development in a learning society
- schools and networking in changing contexts?

Possibilities: paper presentation (30') or a workshop (2 x 2 hours)

Please mail your proposals to: enirdelm.callforpapers@ua.ac.be (Deadline: 20 May 2009)

The full programme and registration sheet will be published on the Enirdelm website in May 2009: www.enirdelm.org

Conference fee: 300 EUR, including proceedings and school visits.

With support of the University of Antwerp, the Flemish, provincial and city governments of Antwerp.
